DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Two main sections of this house are joined by a modern, flat-roofed, one-story addition. One section of the house measures two stories tall by two bays wide. At its southwest corner, it joins a one-story two-bay section.

The main section faces east. The roof ridge runs northsouth. A brick stove-flue chimney heats the north gable end.

The smaller section runs east-west. It is heated by a central brick stove-flue chimney. Two over two windows light this section.

Standing-seam metal covers the roof. Plain lapped weatherboards sheathe the walls.
